The Old Square Piano

Have you ever gone into a friend's home and found one of those old, square pianos with timeworned keys and age-blackened case?

You seldom find these relics of an earlier day in large cities, but in the smaller towns you find many an old Knabe square that is now being played by the grown daughters of the little girl who listened to its sweet melody many years ago.

That old square piano is still sweet-toned, although it sounds pretty thin after listening to the magnificent Knabe pianos of today. But, after all, though wonderful advances have been made in recent years, there is one thing we have never been able to improve. That one thing is the lasting quality which was built into the Knabe of that day—and which, for 80 years, we have built into every Knabe piano.

Our ideal has always been to build a piano of supreme tone quality that would last a lifetime.

Made in Baltimore, U. S. A., Since 1837.
